If your hair is too long, go to your barber. He has the remedy—a pair of shears. If your hair is too short, go to your druggist. He has the remedy—a bottle of Ayer's Hair Vigor.

Ayer's Hair Vigor

Is a Hair Food.

It feeds the hair. The hair grows long and heavy because it gives to the hair just what it needs.

If your hair is turning gray, it shows there is lack of hair nourishment. Give your hair this hair-food and it will take on new life. Soon all the deep, rich color of youth will return to it.

We are sure you will be greatly pleased with Ayer's Hair Vigor as a hair-dressing. It makes the hair soft and smooth, and prevents splitting at the ends.

Prepared by Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass., U.S.A.

Freshly Smoked Ham

Lovers of ham will find something delicious in those we have now. They are the best sugar cured hams, and smoked by us every second day, which gives them a much finer flavor than when the meat is smoked in the states and shipped here. They are full weight and not dried out like Eastern hams often are. When you order ask for our "Aloha" freshly smoked ham—we recommend it.

VALUABLE RELICS SHOWN AT FAIR

UNIVERSITY OF VIRGINIA DISPLAYS GREAT ART COLLECTION IN STATE PAVILION.

The Virginia building at the World's Fair is a replica of "Monticello," the home of Thomas Jefferson, and presents one of the most unique and interesting exhibits on the ground. The most valuable single piece of art is the heroic statue of Jefferson by the distinguished Virginia sculptor, Alexander Gaul. The statue is life size of Charcoal marble, and with the pedestal weighs several tons.

Next in value is the Sully portrait of Jefferson, which was painted from life by the great artist and is one of the last portraits for which Jefferson sat.

There is also another portrait of the great statesman by Andrews, this being a copy of the original at Washington.

One may see the chair occupied by Jefferson when, as Vice President, he presided over one of the most brilliant sessions the country has ever known.

Most interesting to all, and especially to Southerners, are the Elder portraits of General Robert E. Lee and General Jubal E. Early, the great cavalry leader of the Confederacy.

The richness of this exhibit is only an instance of what one sees at almost every turn in visiting the different State building, which is simply an instance of the great care and labor which have been expended in making the Louisiana Purchase Exposition surpass anything of the kind heretofore attempted.

To possess a record of this great event is a matter of no small educational importance, and this record is afforded by our Forest City World's Fair views.

The views are arranged in thirty portfolios of sixteen views each, and one of these is distributed each week. There are 480 of them in all, constituting a most superb collection of photographic reproductions.

One coupon and ten cents secures any number issued by applying at this office, either in person or by mail.

IMPROVING UNSIGHTLY LOTS

WORK BEGUN IN FRONT OF THE YOUNG HOTEL AND AT KING AND RICHARDS.

Work has been commenced on Acting Governor Atkinson's pet plan for converting two of the unsightly vacant lots in prominent places into parks until such time as their owners require them for private purposes. Manager Lake of the Young Hotel leaned over the fence of the big lot across the way from the gray stone caravanseray last evening and gave purely professional advice to some men engaged in putting in a three-inch pipe from the hotel, for the hotel is going to supply all the water wanted for nothing. This morning the pipe line was extended to different parts of the lot and as soon as this is finished, the work of grading will be done by trustees from the fall.

A gang of trustees went to work today on the smaller lot at the intersection of King, Merchant and Richards streets. For years the place has been an eyesore, a dumping place for rubbish and a place for weeds to grow. It will be cleared of all but trees of good size and then put down in grass. The close proximity of the lot to the public buildings renders the change particularly desirable.

Twenty-five cents pays for a Want ad in the Star. A bargain.

COUNTY ACT IS BEING FRAMED

COMMISSIONERS HAVE OLD ACT UNDER DISCUSSION—IMPOR-TANT CHANGES SUGGESTED.

The County Act Commission after many meetings got down to real work last night when it took up a consideration of the act passed by the Legislature of 1903. Chapter 2 was first dealt with, it being decided that all the islands should be divided into the districts as now known and their boundaries defined by law.

Section 4 of Chapter 3 came in for much discussion. It states that each county shall be a body corporate and shall have in addition to the powers specified by the act, such other powers as are "necessary implied." Chairman Cooper, Commissioners Watson and Stewart all agreed that the section's wording was too broad as ideas might differ widely on the point of what was "implied." It was finally decided to change the sentence to read "such other powers as are necessarily implied therefrom."

The portion of the chapter empowering counties to levy and collect taxes was stricken out.

The section charging all county officers with notice of the condition of its treasury and the extent of claims against it was expunged and the sections regarding the liability of officers were held for further consideration.

Upon the question of petitions for the changing of county seats it was decided that such petitions would only be received and voted upon when thirty per cent of the voters sign. A two-thirds vote will be required for the change.

The debatable question as to the election or appointment of county supervisors was left over for discussion at next Tuesday's meeting.

STOLE CLOCK TO PROVE TIME

A SAN FRANCISCO CITIZEN WHO WAS VERY DETERMINED TO SHOW HE WAS RIGHT.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 27.—Some men there are, like "Happy Hooligan," who would rather get into a dispute with a policeman than keep out of jail. John Powers is one of these.

John met Patrolman Desmond at about daybreak the other morning, and the trouble began immediately. "What time is it?" he asked.

"The time of day isn't much of a subject to quarrel about, but a man with the determination and ingenuity of John Powers can make it answer the purpose, all right."

"Four o'clock, sir," the policeman politely answered.

"What's that?" queried Powers, with the bristling air of a man who feels his dignity attacked and is ready to show resentment.

"Four o'clock," the policeman said. "I don't believe it!" hotly returned the man who was looking for trouble.

Desmond gave the questioner a shove that sent him along the sidewalk about fifteen feet with considerable acceleration. Then the policeman considered the incident closed and sauntered leisurely in the other direction. His argument, from a police point of view, was of the convincing kind. But

A man convinced against his will is of the same opinion still.

And the patrolman's argument made little impression on the mind of John Powers.

After half an hour of blissful quiet in that early morning time, Patrolman Desmond again ehled John, who was beating down toward him on the star-board tack with all his canvas given to the breeze. And John was carrying a deerskin of something, which turned out to be a clock.

"I've come back to show you—" began Powers.

"Where did you get that clock?" the policeman demanded, interrupting him right at the beginning of his argument, like a man who wanted to dodge the question.

"You told me it was 4 o'clock and I want to show you that you're wrong," said the belligerent citizen.

"But where did you get the clock, I say?"

"I got it out of a church, and I'll prove it."

"Come along with me!" the patrolman commanded, seizing his opponent by the shoulder. "I'll put a charge of burglary against you."

"That's all right, old man," was the reply, "but I tell you it isn't 4 o'clock." Judge Conlan yesterday found Powers guilty of petty larceny and will pronounce sentence tomorrow. Nobody knows where the clock was obtained.
